 Vicar for Communications for the Diocese of Brooklyn

Follow Msgr. Harrington @MonsignorH

On May 1st we celebrate the Feast of St. Joseph the Worker. Decreed by Pope Pius XII, we commemorate him the same day the communists chose to celebrate the rights of the workers. Pope Pius wanted to closely identify the Church with labor and so established this feast day. However, the stepfather of Our Lord had already been closely associated with manual labor. He was a carpenter. He was not wealthy, but he did provide for the dignity and security of his family. In today's world, fatherhood and labor seem terribly undervalued. It is good we remember St. Joseph, a simple carpenter and father who, by his example, taught the Eternal Word of the Heavenly Father what it meant to be a man. May God bless you.
