This past week, a 13-year-old boy took his own life in Staten Island. In a note that he had written several weeks prior, young Daniel Fitzpatrick had despaired that his situation was not going to change. He simply wrote "I give up." The tragedy of this loss should shake us all. Words have power, they can be a force for great good or terrible harm. We must be conscious of the words we use and the power to build up or tear down. In the Gospel of Mark, we read in the fifth chapter that Jesus raised the daughter of Jairus. Surely, our hope is in the resurrection of young Daniel. The circumstances of this boy's death compound the tragedy and pain. The family of Daniel Fitzpatrick is in the midst of unspeakable grief. A child should never predecease a parent. Let us all say a prayer for them, as they lay their son to rest. May God bless you.
