On January 19, 2015, John Smith fell through the frozen surface of Lake Sainte Louise. He was submerged for over 15 minutes, and doctors were convinced that they had done all that was medically possible to save him. They were right.

But his mother had one Hail Mary left, a desperate plea for God to spare her son. And He did.

Breakthrough shares the incredible true story of the miracle that saved one boy's life and shined a beacon of hope across the world. On this very special episode of Walk in Faith, host Craig Syracuse talks to the cast and crew of the movie as well as John Smith and his mother. Be sure to tune in!
